Newspaper Reports

Tick the feature when you have used it in your newspaper report .

Feature	Example
Headline:	Make your headline short and snappy. Use exciting words, alliteration or rhymes to catch the reader's attention. Your headline needs to tell the reader what kind of story it's going to be.
The 5W's and H.	Who? What? Where? When? Why? How?
Paragraphs: (Opening Sentence, short & punchy, informative summarising paragraph)	Next, split your newspaper report up into paragraphs to help the reader clearly understand the information on the story. Each new paragraph should be given a 'subheading'. This is a very short title that tells the reader a little about what the paragraph is will about.
Past Tense:	Your newspaper story needs to be written in the past tense because you are reporting on something that has already happened.
Third Person:	Write your newspaper reports in the 'third person' because you are writing about somebody else. This means using the names of the people involved in the story or using 'he' or 'she', not 'I' or 'me'. This makes you similar to a narrator, retelling events without being involved in the story.
Quotations:	Adding quotations will make your report more interesting for the reader because it tells the story from the point of view of the people involved. Don't forget to use speech marks!
Photos and Captions	Use a photo/picture with a caption to give the reader more information about the story you are writing.
Facts and Opinions	Fill your newspaper report with both facts and opinions. Facts give the reader all of the information they need by using the 5 W's. Opinions give the point of view of the writer or of people involved in the story. With all this information, the reader can then make up their own point of view.
Summarising Paragraph	Your final paragraph should sum up the story. This is usually a good place to put in your opinion.
